Dear Families,

Our class is reading Money Nobody Taught You, Series 2: fifteen short graphic-novel stories. A group of young adults in a Texas pump shop read contracts, award letters, pay stubs, leases and bank fee schedules before they sign anything, and learn fifteen more money rules (Rules 16-30).

Each book takes about two weeks of 10-minute read-alouds. Your teen may bring home a workbook page with a short "Do the math" box. No real money or private papers are ever needed.

Ways to help at home (optional)

- Ask: "What paper did the crew read this week? What was the catch?"
- If you're comfortable, read one real (blank) form together: a lease page, a pay stub, a phone plan.
- Never share account numbers or passwords for schoolwork.

Before Book 1 and after Book 5, students take a short ungraded quiz. It measures what the class learned, not any one student. We don't send student data to anyone.

Questions? Contact me: _____

Thank you,

_____

The books teach money ideas. They are not financial, tax or legal advice.

Money Nobody Taught You · Series 2 · Parent letter · © 2026 Money Nobody Taught You. Licensed for classroom use. Do not alter or resell.